

Places

Choosing the right environment is crucial for an inspiring and meaningful learning experience. We have picked a handful of beautiful places throughout Europe that meet our standards and allow for a wide range of outdoor activities. These serene locations are off the beaten track and provide the silence and tranquillity necessary for effective program outcomes.

ActiveEarth/EasyDay uses a wide range of outdoor adventure activities. Given that every location has a unique environment and climate, not all activities will be available everywhere. We generally chose activities with regard to the educational aims of a specific course, but there is a margin for individual aspirations and capabilities.

Adventures range from surfing perfect waves off the Picos de Europa to trekking through unspoilt alpine scenery in Slovenia, from free diving in the crystal waters of the Mediterranean to jumping off cascading waterfalls in the Spanish Pyrenees, and from rock climbing on perfect sandstone formations in Germany to canoeing in Scotland.

While we encourage people to meet new challenges and adventures, we operate a strict 'challenge by choice' policy that gives participants control over any aspect of their involvement.

Read our brief location portfolios for more information on individual locations and their associated range of possible adventure activities.
